SUNDAY JULY 5 1863.

TO OUR FOREIGN READERS.

The departure of the French Packet so immediately after the selling of the Mercury renders it almost unnecessary for us to give any lengthened review, never the less, during the few days which have intervened since the closing of the English mail, some very important events have occurred which it affords us the greatest satisfaction to acquaint our foreign readers.

The signal defeat of Peñalosa in Cordova by the Government troops has, we may say, restored peace to the whole country. The revolution in the Uruguay Republic seems on the wane, and it is more than probable that in less than a month we will have the same happy blessings to commemorate respecting the Danish Oriental.

Business is very dull, and money unreasonably dear. Ounces rule at the same rate as on the selling of the Mercury. Freights are dull, as cargoes are very scarce; and the report that the Alabama is at the mouth of the River Plate keeps away all neutral vessels which are already laden, from leaving port. We extract from Friday's paper the following particulars respecting the three Confederate steamers and their prizes, for the information of our foreign readers, who may have bad goods on board:—

The Florida entered Ceara, 4th June. The Government granted a permission to remain in port twenty-four hours, during which she took in coals and landed eleven men, part crew of the American ship Crown Point of Boston, for California, which she burnt on the 15th May in the track of South. The Commonwealth was burnt on the 17th April by the Florida, in lat 23 S., long 31 W. The Federal schooner Adelphi landed at Rio Grande 29th May, six men, part of the crew of the Conn Seawell, put on board of her by the Florida. The crew of the Commonwealth was transferred to the French ship Celine, bound to Havre, and on other ones of the 17th we were put on board the Dutch schooner Alan, destination unknown.

The "Alabama" burnt on 29th May, lat 11 S. long 33 W. The American ship "Jabez Snow" from Cardiff to Montevideo. On 2nd June she burnt in lat 11 S. long 34 W. American barque Amazonas, from New York to Montevideo. Forty-one persons, the officers, crews, and passengers of these barns were put on board of the Hun. sch. Wilder, which arrived at Rio on the 11th inst. The captain of the Alabama provided the Wilder with stores and provisions necessary, and recommended the master to claim passage money of the American Consul.

The Georgia captured on 8th June, fifteen miles S. E. of Cape Clear, the American ship George Griswold, bound from Cardiff to Rio Janeiro with coals. The vessel was taken up and given on bond for $100,000. On the 14th of June, lat 22 40 S. long 36 30 W. the Georgia captured the British ship "Sarah" bound from Bombay to the Cape. The captain and crew arrived at Rio de Janeiro on the instant, on board an American barque. The Georgia has been seen off Rio Janeiro, and reported on giving a bond of $100,000.

By advices from Montevideo we learn that the Southern insurrection is spreading, and the Colorado party are marching on Montevideo. Flores is said to be at Durazno, but there is some doubt entertained as to her being absent from the city, which is probably a ruse to deceive the partizans of Aguirre.

Respecting the Buenos Ayres Consul Mallroy, we have to notice in the report of the inspecting committee appointed by the Government. It would seem that the Government thought that he was not altogether pleased with an enquiry which reflected the greatest credit upon the conductors.

The restoration of peace in the interior will be pleasing news for Mr Wheelwright. We understand that the earthworks of the Cordova Railway are progressing rapidly, and subscriptions are still going on in all parts of the country for the stock.

The proposed new Custom House law, which it is supposed will some into operation on the 1st of August, will cause a very serious change in our tariff. The law has not yet been finally passed, and we hope that some important alterations will be made in the proposed bill.

The currency question is the subject of great attention at present. Several plans have been proposed for its reformation, which will be more fully noticed in Sr. Romero, who proposes to sell the public lands, and thus reduce the amount of paper in circulation. It is also stated that Government is about to apply for a loan in England for the purpose of making the paper dollar payable in gold as a fixed rate.

The Governor of the Provincial Bank has been changed, and Sen Don Manuel Bustista Pelle, a man whose intimate connection and position in society has been applauded. This has given great satisfaction to our mercantile community, who at times suffer seriously from the ill advised measures of this Bank.

We are happy to perceive in the Mayor's Report that the C. A. Building has at last taken charge of the London and River Plate Bank in that city. It has ceased to be an agency of the Bank of Buenos Ayres, and is now a distinct branch bank. Mr. Reding is a gentleman of much experience, and we hope that since his arrival he has been able to confer with the principal foreign merchants, who have promised to support the English Bank.

We have much pleasure that immigration is steadily on the increase, and scarcely a day passes without some new arrivals, yet, strange to say, notwithstanding all this, labour continues to be scarce. Two of our railway companies complain that they require two or three hundred workmen than what they have at present. In the country farmers also complain of the scarcity of farm servants: in fact, to use the words of one over 12,000 men, the very least of whom are averse to fighting and take the first opportunity to escape to the woods. Thus there is a multitude of starving people in every city, and of these fellows, mostly well armed and mounted, go in bands of a dozen or more, and not content with killing an ox or stealing two or three sheep, break houses and commit plunder or murder.

The foreign trade of Hungarias, Cordova, Santa Fe, and Rioja is suffering terribly at the hands of these so called Government troops. In many places the latter have carried off troops of horses and cattle, which may be a benefit; but still more lamentable is the wanton destruction of houses and cattle. We are assured that they have burned houses of people for the mere pleasure of causing the excesses to cease. In other cases they sought the services of a noble family, and on their refusal, murdered the master, outraged the unfortunate wife and sisters, within a brutal thirst for blood. Is it any wonder that the people of the interior should rise en masse to defend their homes and families, when they have no redress, regardless of the numbers enrolled and called Generals and Colonels by the Governors. It appears that Cordoba and Catriel have at the head of two flying columns acting in concert with the Governors we have named, and that the object of the latter is to put down under Dionisio Cordoba, and that Catriel is sent out in the village of Rodeo for the purpose of creating a diversion in favour of Peñalosa. Nothing could be more contrary to the truth than this, in anticipation of a diversion by the rebels in that quarter.

Hence we may conclude that the "flying columns" are composed of the lawless portion of the insurgents, whom the troops who were unable to quell before the invasion of 3 men have now a further addition enemy to cope with, the latter having been rendered powerful by the victories or vanquished. It may be true all Flores' Brazilian auxiliaries have left him, but Flores' own troops are still more demoralized and weakened by desertion. Aguirre is sick, and his successor is an old woman as regards military matters. Under these circumstances, it is likely the insurgents will ultimately become masters of the whole country, and Flores be forced to be reduced to a gun-shot radius of the walls of Montevideo.

There is much private talk of an early peace, and we have no doubt peace in which it is supposed the Argentine Government offers kindly offices. This it would be, we think, feasible, since in Oriental President is known to be willing to resign, and Flores professes to object only to the election of Lucas Moreno. The other portions of Buenos Ayres oppose all transaction, holding him a sign of weakness and treaty with an enemy of power, the Montevideans may equally assert the same. We trust, however, that if Flores cannot beat Perro, nor vice versa, they will have the sense to put an end to a state of things, which for every one of its duration causes the Oriental Republic to retrograde a year in its former onward march of industrial progress

LATEST FROM THE INTERIOR

ARRIVAL OF THE PAVON.

The Pavon arrived yesterday morning, bringing us files of the Rosario papers.

On the 2nd inst., the 1st Regiment of the line marches for Cordova, where it will remain for some time stationed. It is not known whether Posse will resign or retain office.

A splendid troop of horses arrived from Santa Fe, for General Mitre's forces, which were expected to arrive from Rojas. Major Pizarro marched from Rosario in the direction of the Guardia de la Esquina.

The following are the particulars of the battle of Cordova.

On Sunday, the 28th June, at 8 a.m, Peñalosa marshal out of Cordova at the head of 2000 men, and encountered Paunero's army about 4 miles from Arenales. The fight commenced immediately, and lasted about one hour, when Peñalosa's men were all scattered and the chief himself fled.

Peñalosa's infantry surrendered en masse, and were all made prisoners. Close on 600, and about 500 of his men were left dead and wounded on the battle field.

Paunero won the day by a brilliant charge of his cavalry. The horsemen of Peñalosa were surrounded and completely enveloped the rebel forces. The old general (Paunero) himself headed the gallant cavalry charge, and with sword in hand cut his way almost to where Peñalosa was standing.

The "Standard," also to give praise where praise is deserved, cannot refrain from complimenting the brave Paunero, and congratulating the President upon so able and efficient an officer. We hope and trust that now we will be made of the victory, and that the unfortunate and misguided prisoners will be treated according to the civilized rule of warfare.

In Rosario the greatest rejoicings are going on, and the Minister of War is receiving ovations in a few days.

Gen. Mitre has received orders to return to his old quarters in Rojas. It is thought that Peñalosa will escape to Chile across the Cordilleras, and there settle down, where we have no doubt he will be made to keep quiet.

Our esteemed friend, Consul Hutchinson, arrived in the Pavon yesterday in Rosario with his son in command. The season for sowing is fast approaching, and, if accounts be true, Santa Fé will next year, not only supply corn for the rest of the Argentine republic, as every man, woman and child in the country is now a soldier.

The National Government, we learn, now that there are prospects of a permanent peace, is determined to push the custom enterprise ahead.

MEETING IN PLAZA PARQUE.

The half-concealed sympathies of the native journals are now freely expressed in favour of Flores' invasion, the editors converting themselves into collectors of subscriptions for the cause. The names of those parties convoking the meeting are not to be found, as we have long have seen was our statement, that the expedition was hatched in Buenos Ayres. The question is agitated whether Government will permit such an assembly, and whether it infringes international right. Concerning the first, we have no doubt of the affirmative, although the "Nacion Argentina" hangs aloof and keeps silent.

As to the right of public meetings, it is so essentially English that we are decidedly in favour of this public expression of feeling. Meetings for the relief of Lancashire operatives, in England, are of everyday occurrences in London, although the Ministry professes hostility to these assemblies. There is but one evil possible here, namely, that Portenos are as little accustomed to this popular right they will abuse it. Should they assemble in military force he held in readiness to guard against disorder, there is no fear of any ill consequences. From the numbers, we will conclude all those who assemble to-day in Plaza Parque are well to be able to judge the relative sympathies of Buenos Ayres for Flores or Berro.

We do not expect a single foreigner will attend; we even expect the meeting will be a closed affair.

THE ONWARD

This is the name of a Federal war ship, or lately seen off Bahia, in search of the Confederate privateers. She carries 15 heavy guns, and is manned by a crew numbering 180. She was formerly a merchantman, and is by no means a match for the Alabama.

LUCKY ESCAPE

Among the passengers of the Amazonia (burnt by the Alabama) was Mr Rumble, recently arrived in Buenos Ayres. He states all the crew and passengers were put in irons, but he produced a letter of recommendation from the Bishop of Rhode Island to one of our Irish resident clergy, and this saved him his liberty. Captain Semmes is a Roman Catholic

THE MONTEVIDEO MURDER.

The lady stabbed by her suitor is named Freyre, and not Picardi; she is not dead, and hopes are even entertained of her recovery. The assassin discharged a pistol at her, but missed aim, and then buried the poinard in her side. He had dogged his victim from Mass, and also guarded at his murder. Picardi's house, where she unhappily stumbled and fell. He was arrested on the spot, and is a fashionable young man without any livelihood

ITALIAN OPERA

"Norma" has been postponed until Monday evening. We hope that the weather will be propitious, as the magnificent opera will draw a crowded house, and we will be able to fill "prima-donna" a happy performance of so splendid a role.

La Paz, July 4th, 1863.

This La Paz appears to be entirely forgotten by the "Administracion de Correos" in B. Ayres Our letters are sent by the subcommissionaire of the pilgrador, calling now point monthly to the Parana, where they are detained by the lazy officers until her next trip, a fortnight later. I am upon the eve to perusal a few lines I now write to my friend Peñalosa with a view to remedy the evil, and I am in the meeting for the launch.—Yours truly,

CUTTER PLANTER.

AMERICAN INDEPENDENCE

On yesterday a large number of American residents assembled at the Legation of the United States, in pursuance of the Minister's invitation. At 4 p.m. there were 40 gentlemen present, and the Hon Mr Kirk opened the festivities with a brilliant speech, in commemoration of the day. The shipmasters then gave "The 4th of July," which was drunk with enthusiastic applause

Mr Zimmerman next proposed the health of the worthy Minister

The table was sumptuously furnished with viands, and after a good collation, several appropriate toasts were given

An officer of the President's house had arrived to present the Excellency the American Minister with the compliments of the day, announcing that a military band would play under the windows, by order of the Governor. Accordingly, the artillery band played a number of airs, terminating with the National Hymn, which was heartily cheered by all present.

The American Minister then proposed the health of President Mitre, which was drunk with three times three

The American Consul gave "The Governor of Buenos Ayres, Don Adolfo Saavedra," also drunk with applause.

Mr. E. A. Hopkins drank "Success to the Argentine Republic." Responded to with vigorous applause.

Mr. M.G. Mulhall, in making the toast the hospitality of the United States to European emigrants, more especially Irishmen, observed that the Union was applied to English settlers in Ireland. "Hibernicus, hibernis ipsis" was still more true in relation to the United States, where all foreigners found such a happy home that they completely adopted themselves to the country, and therefore toasted "that the United States may ever be the asylum of exiled, and that they may enjoy this hospitality and they have hitherto enjoyed that the President was coming in of Feast Excellency, the Ministers, the Ministers of Interior and Education and his aide de camp, drove up in a carriage and a body guard, preceded by came forth to receive the distinguished guests, and after a cordial salutation with the American Minister and Consul, their excellencies sat down

Mr. Hopkins then presented several gentlemen, to the President and Ministers, after some friendly conversation, which General Mitre seemed to enjoy very much, all being in high spirits. His Excellency rose and said:

Gentlemen, permit me to drink, on this great anniversary, to the country of Washington, the cradle of human liberty, the United States of America. May the genius of humanity ever and strength and consolation in the remembrance of American Independence, and may the great Republic continue to be the guardian of popular liberty

After repeated applause, the Hon Mr Kirk rose to give the "Health of President Mitre," hoping that his administration would prove happy to the Argentine Republic, by consolidating its institutions and pacifying the country

Mr. Hopkins next proposed "The Minister of the Interior, the hero of an American citizen, who worthily laboured in the great cause of republicanism."

Dr. Rawson, in reply, said—It is true the United States have a double claim on me—first as a republican, and secondly as a descendant of the Anglo-Saxon race. I owe much to the American nation, the land of my birth, but I cannot forget the blood which rolls through my veins, for my father was a countryman of Washington. I give you "The memory of those great men who achieved it. Independence of the United States."

Mr. Helper gave the health of Dr. Costa, Minister of Education.

Dr. Costa said—In thanking you for this honour, I must congratulate all Americans on the vindication of the great principle of Democracy, that society no longer requires kings or tyrants, that peoples are capable of self-government, and that the day is near when we recognise is Right. I drink to Democratic institutions.

President Mitre again invited to a toast. He said—I have more pleasure to day to fulfil a duty which is also a heartfelt pleasure. I cannot say, with Dr. Rawson, that I am allied by blood to the North American Republic, but I am allied by the ties of every true Republican can boast that his heart and feelings are akin to those which are the great bulwark, and that by equality and liberty the immortal work of American Independence. At present, unhappily, a fratricidal rebellion, which affects the universe, strikes at the very existence of the Great Republic, but, please God, the storm will pass away, and America once again, be one of the happiest nation on earth. I have confidence in the labours and genius of that great man, Abraham Lincoln, to whom I drink, and I trust he will govern so grand a people for their happiness and welfare; and may I hope, gentlemen, to count on your good wishes that my labours will, likewise, be crowned with success in the regeneration of this dear republic, whose existence fills the hearts of our great neighbour, are calculated to be of a transcendent nature. I regret that my duties all in any room for me to be elected all that I could reasonably, but by way of a toast I beg you will drink to Rawson Lincoln, "The President of the United States, Abraham Lincoln."

Enthusiastic applause, cheering, hip, hip, hurra, &c., and which their excellencies retired and the party broke up.

When the President and Ministers were about to leave the house the guests came out, and gave them a cheer, "three times three."

EXCHANGE.

The Exchange market presents a rather extraordinary appearance. Good bills have been passed to day at 68d., and freely offered at 67 d. Such a sudden rise in exchange has taken us all somewhat by surprise, more particularly at the present price of ounces. In quoting exchange on England at 68d., we think it right to say that we only heard of one transaction at that rate.

A small transaction was said to for the end of the year at 45.

This has been good of what people think of ounces. Only a few weeks ago they could be bought for the same at 40.

To-day scarcely any one wishes to sell even at 435. Paper money still rules tight, although the demand is not limited, only one retailers being at present writing.

Owing to the high price of ounces, and a disposition on the part of the Executives to sell Saladuriaga can kill with some prospect of remuneration from the South however a lot or cattle is to be got and buyers have gone up to the North where cattls are in good condition.

One of the finest estancias in this province is at present on sale, it is situated on the river of Arceo in that parish and will be sold cheap. We call the attion of our readers to it as we believe the land to be unsurpassed.

In yesterdays paper, through some mistake the reference to Juan Tiny, and Millard, was stated to be in Piedad instead of Cangallo, the error has been rectified now as will be seen in another column.

We notice the new firm of Messrs. Rhinnack and Co. 163 Piedad a German importing house which we trust will do a good business.

Collections this evening we learn were rather better than usual as regards paper but gold is very scarce and there are much things getting an ounce except on the Bolsa.

We perceive that the Custom House note of hand business is likely to be put on a better footing and the receivers of Para Tiny and Millard, was stated to be in Piedad instead of Cangallo, the error has been rectified now as will be seen in another column.
